Annual Progress Report of the Superintendent, Archaeological Survey of India, Northern Circle, Muhammadan and British Monuments, for the year ending the 31st March, 1921.

PART I.

1. Year's work and office routine.—The office of the Superintendent, Muhammadan and British Monuments, Archaeological Survey of India, Northern Circle, was held by Mr. J. F. Blakiston, from 1st April to 20th October, 1920, when he left on 13 months' combined leave, handing over charge of this office to the Head Clerk, Pandit Balgovind Dikshit, who was relieved by Mr. J. A. Page, A.R.I.B.A., on the forenoon of the 25th October, 1920, on his return from privilege leave. From this date Mr. Page held charge of the circle till the close of the year ending the 31st March, 1921.

In its resolution no. 190, dated the 14th June, 1921, the Government of India, Department of Education (Archaeology and Epigraphy), has been pleased to increase the scale of pay of the gazetted officers of the Archaeological Department (up to the grade of Superintendent) from Rs. 300—25—800 to Rs. 350—50—1,200 plus overseas' allowance Rs. 150—250 with effect from 1st April, 1920—a concession that will afford a long-needed relief from continued financial embarrassment to the officers concerned.

The work of the members of the establishment generally has been very satisfactory during the year, and I am happy to be able to record the sanction by the Government of India, Department of Education (letter no. 310, dated the 12th October, 1920,) and the Government of the United Provinces, Public Works department, Buildings and Roads branch (telegram no. 808-E., dated the 23rd March, 1921,) of a well-merited increase in the scale of pay drawn by them with effect from 15th January, 1920; for I have every reason to know the very real hardship they experienced in their endeavour to support existence on the old scale of pay in the face of the increased cost of living. Pandit B. G. Dikshit, who attained the age limit of retirement during 1919, has had his period of service again extended for another year, and I have to endorse the well-deserved commendation regarding him which has appeared in previous Annual Reports. Of the services of Babu Mata Prasad, 2nd clerk, I have again to record my appreciation; and I hope to utilize them during the coming year in one of the two appointments of Conservation Assistants sanctioned by the Government of India for employment in the United Provinces among Muhammadan and British Monuments, for which his previous experience and intelligent co-operation in conservation and excavation work carried out under my personal supervision render him specially suitable. Babu Fazal-ud-din, Head Draughtsman, has again been engaged principally in actively assisting in the survey of the more important monuments at Delhi under my supervision, for which work the employment of four temporary draughtsmen has been sanctioned by the Chief Commissioner, Delhi, for a period of two years from 1st October, 1919. Babu Durga Bakhsh, Assistant Draughtsman-Photographer, has been of much help in the preparation from the Superintendent's designs of working drawings of new cases for the Delhi Museum, and in the general routine work of the drawing office.

Drawings for a new engine house at the Taj to be erected outside the garden to the west, with details of doors and windows of a design appropriate to its setting, were also prepared during the year, and issued to the Public Works Department. During the year 27 drawings in all were prepared by the Assistant Draughtsman-Photographer (Appendix C).

One hundred and thirty-two photographic negatives were also made by the Photographer and Assistant Draughtsman-Photographer in the same period (Appendix B).

2. The Royal Visit to Agra.—In the month of February, 1921 (4th—7th) I had the honour of attending on His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught on his visits to the principal archaeological monuments in my charge at Agra, Sikandarah, and Fatehpur-Sikri.

3. Conservation.—A descriptive account of the conservation work carried out in this circle during the year appears in Part II of this report, and a tabulated statement giving details of the sums spent on the repair and maintenance of the monuments conserved is set out in Appendix A.

It will be convenient here to record the sanction by the Government of India, Department of Education, Archaeology and Epigraphy (letter no. 383, dated the 13th December, 1920), of the appointment of two Conservation Assistants, on a pay of Rs. 150 per mensem, rising by annual increments of Rs. 10 per mensem to a maximum of Rs. 350, for employment in this circle among Muhammadan and British Monuments in the United Provinces. It is hoped that similar appointments will also be sanctioned for the Punjab, where there is much scope for the activities of specially trained Conservation Assistants. It is anticipated that some difficulty will be met with in suitably filling these posts, for men with experience in the special requirements demanded are very few in number. It will, in any case, be necessary specially to train them to a full appreciation of the peculiar needs of conservation work, and the appointments will be probationary during this period of training. The special need of such assistance in the active supervision of repairs in progress is the subject of comment in Part II of this report: Notes on conservation.

4. Inspection of ancient monuments, etc.—(a) Mr. J. F. Blakiston (Superintendent), inspected ancient monuments, etc., in the following places on the dates noted against them:—

(1) Province of Delhi from the 27th to 28th April, 10th May, 1920, 17th and 18th June, 4th, 5th and 30th July, 25th August, 30th September, and 1st October, 1920.
(2) Fatehpur-Sikri on the 25th April, 1920 (to conduct the Crown Prince of Rumania around Fatehpur-Sikri), 22nd, 24th, 25th, and 26th September, 1920.

(12) At Sarai Kala, with the Director-General of Archaeology in India, from the 24th to 29th March, 1921.

(c) Maulvi Zafar Hasan (Assistant Superintendent) visited Rupar in the Ambala district on the 21st April, 1920, for taking estampages from an inscribed stone On the 7th May, 1920, he proceeded to Nizam-ud-din, Delhi, in connection with the decoration of the west Mihrab of the shrine of Nizam-ud-din. On the 2nd June, 1920, he visited Khairpur, Hauz Khas, Moradabad, Pahari, Kharera, Shaikh Sarai, and Mehrauli to take estampages of Sikandar Shah Lodi's inscriptions. On the 5th July, 1920, he visited Humayun's Tomb, Nizam-ud-din, and Raisina to arrange for the preparation of photographs. On the 9th August, 1920, he visited Lala Paras Das's Mosque at Mahrauli. He was at Agra from the 30th August to 4th September, 1920, to revise with the Superintendent the fourth volume of the list of ancient monuments at Delhi. On the 26th October, 1920, he was in attendance on His Highness the Prince Amoradhat of Siam on his visit to the Delhi monuments. Maulvi Zafar Hasan again visited, on the 29th October, 1920, Khairpur, Hauz Khas, and Mehrauli in connection with the Sikandar Lodi inscriptions. From the 2nd to 4th January, 1921, he was at Bombay to read a paper before the meeting of the Indian Historical Records Commission.

1. How to observe in Archaeology. Suggestions for Travellers in the Near and Middle East, 1920. By Sir F. G. Kenyon and G. F. Hill, printed by order of the Trustees of the British Museum, London.

7. Publications.—(a) The following reports have been published during the year 1920-21 :—

(1) Progress Report of the Superintendent, Archaeological Survey of India, Muhammadan and British Monuments, Northern Circle, for the years 1916-17, 1917-18, and 1918-19. (In one volume.)

(2) Annual Progress Report of the Superintendent, Archaeological Survey of India, Northern Circle (Muhammadan and British Monuments) for the year ending 31st March, 1920.

The Assistant Superintendent was responsible for the following publications during the year under report :—

(1) List of Muhammadan histories of India, excluding those of independent provincial monarchies. The list is an index to the historical works, printed and in manuscript, written during the Muhammadan supremacy in India and known to exist in public libraries or private ownership. It is desired that the publication should be as complete as possible, and in order to attain this object it is intended to invite the help of scholars both in this country and abroad in its compilation.

(2) An article on the "Inscriptions of Sikandar Shah Lodi in Delhi" contributed to the Epigraphia Indo-Moslemica.

(3) A paper on a "Letter of condolence on the death of the Emperor Shahjahan from Aurangzeb to Jahan Ara, and her reply" read before the meeting of the Indian Historical Records Commission held at Bombay in January last, which is to be published shortly in the proceedings of the Commission.

(4) An Urdu translation of the Late Mr. Sanderson's Guide to Delhi Fort printed and published privately by the Assistant Superintendent, at the instance of the Director-General of Archaeology.

(b) The following conservation notes have also been issued during the year :—

(1) Inspection note on certain monuments at Delhi, dated the 26th May, 1920.

(2) Conservation note on the Bholi Bhatyari-ka-Mahal and adjoining band, Delhi, dated the 20th May 1920.

(3) Note on proposal to separate the Military and Archaeological areas in the Agra Fort, dated the 13th July, 1920 ; with a plan of Agra Fort.

(4) Supplementary conservation note on the road front, Tughlaqabad, Delhi, dated the 30th November, 1920.

(5) Memorandum on Musahib Khan's tank, Ambala, dated the 23rd January, 1921.

(6) Inspection note on Baoli at Maham, district Rohtak, dated the 30th January, 1921.

(7) Supplementary conservation note on Rohtas Fort, Jhelum district, dated the 15th March, 1921.

(8) Inspection note on the Begam-ki-Sarai at Attock, dated the 21st March, 1921.

(9) Inspection note on certain monuments at Lahore, dated the 7th March, 1921.

8. Compilation of lists of ancient monuments.—The listing work in the Delhi Province was finished last year, and it now remains to see Volumes III and IV through the press. During the year under report the 4th and last volume of the series, comprising the monuments of (1) Badarpur, (2) Badli and (3) Nangloi, (4) Bawana, (5) Kanjhaola, (6) Najafgarh, (7) Palam and (8) Shahdara Zails was examined by the Superintendent and sent to press. The 1st proof of the list of monuments in the Mehrauli Zail (Volume III), has been corrected and the volume will be issued shortly.

9. Inscriptions.—Under the instructions of the Superintendent, Maulvi Ashfaq Ali (Munshi of this office), inspected the fragmentary inscription on the so-called tomb of Maulana Hasan* at Agra. It did not prove to be of any historical interest however, but merely a lament on the death of an unknown lady named Zinat. It is noteworthy that the inscription contains no reference to Maulana Hasan after whom the building is known. This was the only inscription recorded during the year.

10. Archaeology under the Reforms Scheme.—In its resolution no. 308-S. (Reforms office), dated the 16th December, 1920, Government of India announces its decision to treat Archaeology as a "Central or Reserved Subject" under the Imperial Government, to which the department will look in future for funds, not only to meet its administrative expenditure as before, but also the cost of conserving the monuments in its charge, for which latter expenditure responsibility had heretofore rested primarily with the several Local Governments within whose boundaries the monuments concerned were located. This responsibility will now be transferred to the Imperial Government in respect of the repair and maintenance of monuments notified as protected under the Ancient

* The building is also known locally as the Saqqa's tomb, with as little warrant.

Monuments Preservation Act, VII of 1904, the cost of which will be an Imperial charge. One of the incidental effects of this change is that any revenues accruing from such monuments in Government possession (such as, for instance, the proceeds of the sale of fruit, grass, etc.) will in future have to be credited to Imperial funds, and will no longer be at the disposal of the several departments under the Local Governments which have heretofore benefited by them. The total sum involved is admittedly small in comparison with the cost of upkeep, but it is hoped that it will now go to supplement the grant for conservation which is, and always has been, seriously inadequate to meet the many urgent demands upon it.

11. Entrance fees, licences, etc.—The chief item of revenue mentioned above so accruing is in regard to the Dehli Fort, where the sum recovered from entrance fees amounts to some Rs. 10,000 annually (the figure for the year under report has not yet been received from the Deputy Commissioner, Delhi). Other items in this connection of which this department has definite knowledge, but which doubtless do not comprise the total assets so accruing, are set out below :—

	Rs.
Agra Fort, Historical buildings. Licences to vendors, collected by the Cantonment Magistrate	1,570
Taj Mahal, Agra. Licences to vendors	1,631
Sikandarah, Akbar's tomb. Sale of grass	800
Sikandarah, Mariam's tomb. Sale of grass	21
Hire of Burjs near Chini-ka-Rauza, Agra	...?
Hire of Metcalfe Hall, Agra	...?
Ram Bagh, Agra. Sale of fruit, etc.	625
Rent of United Services Club (Chatter Manzil) Lucknow ...	333-5-4 per mensem.

The scheme sanctioned by the United Provinces Government for the collection of an entrance fee of two annas from visitors to the Agra Fort has not yet been put into effect. Its introduction involves the effective separation of the Archaeological from the Military area in the Fort, and the project drawn up to permit of this has not been found acceptable, in certain respects, by the military authorities. It is hoped, however, that the amendment now being considered will meet the requirements of all concerned.

12. Sale of photographs.—Rupees. 15-11-0, being the proceeds of the sale of photographic prints to the public during the year 1920-21, has been placed in the Agra treasury.

13. Protected monuments.—A list of monuments notified as protected under the Ancient Monuments Preservation Act, VII of 1904, is given in appendix E at the end of this report.

14. Architectural scholars.—Under instructions of the Government of India, Department of Education, letter no. 165, dated the 9th August, 1917, Messrs. G. C. Chandra and B. L. Dhama reported in person at my office on the 11th October, 1917, for the purpose of receiving a training in archaeology and the special requirements of conservation work among ancient monuments, in furtherance of the intention of the Government of India to recruit the future personnel of this department from among Indians, as far as possible. Their scholarships were for a period of two years, during which they received an allowance of Rs. 120 per month. Their work in this office has been very promising and they appear to have acquired a necessary appreciation of the special considerations involved in Archaeological work. During their period of training they were principally engaged on a careful detailed Survey of the remains at Feroz Shah's Kotla, Delhi, and were very helpful in assisting in and supervising the work of the four temporary draughtsmen who were appointed from October, 1919, for the survey of the Delhi monuments. Opportunity was also taken to visit conservation works in progress in company of the Superintendent, when, special features of a repair were explained. In April, 1920, Mr. G. C. Chandra was appointed to officiate as Assistant Superintendent, Archaeological Survey, Western Circle, Poona. At the end of his two years' training in this office, Mr. B. L. Dhama, was appointed by the Government of India, Department of Education (letter no. 219, dated the 3rd July, 1920) as a temporary assistant to the Superintendent, Muhammadan and British Monuments, Northern Circle, in connection with the survey work at Dehli, on a pay of Rs. 250 a month with effect from the 10th June, 1920. His appointment was subsequently extended for a further period of one month from the 9th October, 1920 (vide Government of India, Department of Education, letter no. 340, dated the 2nd November, 1920. On the 12th November, 1920, in accordance with instructions received from the Director-General of Archaeology in India, he left Agra on transfer to the Chattarpur State, Bundelkhand, to supervise certain important conservation work on the Khajraha temples, which was about to be taken in hand.

15. Survey work.—Work on the Survey of the more important Archaeological monuments of Delhi, in connection with which the Chief Commissioner, Delhi, sanctioned the employment of four temporary draughtsmen for a period of two years from 1st October, 1919, steadily progressed, and some 40 measured drawings (mostly sheets measuring 40″ × 27″) have in all been prepared in pencil, of which number approximately a quarter have been finished up in ink as permanent records. The monuments dealt with comprise the Qutb group, Kotila Firoz Shah, Hauz Khas, and the fort palaces (survey incomplete of this last). While the number of monuments thus dealt with to date are relatively few in comparison with the list of those remaining to be surveyed as enumerated in the Progress Report for the previous year, the actual amount of work done, as evidenced in the number of drawings completed, is by no means inconsiderable, having in view the careful study of ruined and often ill-defined features entailed in the process.

Work commenced on the survey of the Qutb group, which was undertaken in connection with the preparation of an historical memoir in hand by the Archaeological Superintendent, and proved literally a liberal education in the value of such systematic survey in bringing to light features hidden from the most careful visual examination of the old remains in the ordinary way, enabling one to reconstruct (on paper, it is, perhaps, advisable to add), with some assurance as to its probable authenticity, a restoration of the old ruined fabric as it originally existed.

In these circumstances, it was accordingly thought much more desirable, if a full return for the money spent on the survey was to be obtained, to extend the scope of the work beyond the somewhat restricted limits at first suggested, and in place of simple unstudied plans of the scanty remains to prepare careful survey drawings, co-related in plan and elevation and section, indicating from an intimate study of the internal evidence on the site a restoration of the missing features, to supplement and render intelligible the record of what remains actually extant. The drawings thus prepared form a collection of very real value, and have been successful in disclosing many interesting and important features of these Delhi monuments, which without the light thus focussed upon them would probably have remained obscured indefinitely from one's visualization. For it is trite to remark that the only method of intelligent study of these fragmentary old ruins is to seek to reconstruct in one's imagination the appearance they presented in their original state.

The amount spent on the survey during the year 1920-21 is as follows :—

	Rs.	a.	p.
Pay and War allowance of the four draughtsmen ...	2,448	0	0
Travelling allowance of same	440	4	0

16. Museums.—Taj Museum.—In connection with the Royal Visit to Agra, Rs. 300 were spent on the reconditioning of the furniture in the museum located in the entrance gateway of the Taj, principally on the provision of new tables and stands, new frames for pictures received on loan, and replacement of broken glass in existing frames.

No new exhibits were acquired during the year under report.

Delhi Museum.—Seven exhibits detailed in the list below have been acquired for the Delhi museum. This institution, situated as it is in the capital of British India, is growing rapidly in importance, and it has been found desirable to furnish it with more suitable show cases to afford better protection to its interesting and valuable exhibits and display them to best advantage. A proposal to replace the promiscuous collection of old cases by more suitable up-to-date ones was made to the Chief Commissioner, Delhi, who kindly sanctioned a sum of Rs. 6,000 for the purpose, payable in three annual instalments of Rs. 2,000 each.

The first instalment received this year has been expended in preparing eight wall cases for the collection of Mughal pictures.

The Assistant Superintendent, who, in the capacity of Honorary Assistant Curator, has been in immediate charge of the museum, is shortly to be transferred from Delhi, and it was necessary therefore that arrangements should be made for providing it with an adequate staff for its proper administration under the new conditions. A proposal to create the new appointments of Gallery Assistant and clerk to the Delhi Museum met with the approval of the Chief Commissioner, Delhi, who was pleased to sanction the creation of these posts as well as the employment of an extra peon on the menial establishment of the museum.

17. Tour Programme.—As far as it is possible at present to foresee, the inspection of conservation work likely to be in progress will necessitate the presence of the Archaeological Superintendent in the following localities during the approximate periods mentioned below. This arrangement will, however, depend largely on very early intimation being given by the Public Works department officers concerned of the dates when individual works in their districts will be commenced, and it is possible, indeed probable, that it will be disturbed by urgent calls to inspect repairs concurrently in progress in widely separated parts of this Circle. However, by attempting to deal systematically by localities with the inspection of conservation work in progress it is hoped that a good deal of such fortuitous travelling will be eliminated :—

At Agra and in the neighbourhood up to the end of November.

At Lucknow and Cawnpore in the first week of December.

At Delhi till the middle of February.

At Lahore, Shaikhupura, Rohtas, and Hissar, up to the end of March.

Questions are further pending with regard to the following monuments and it is hoped that it will be possible for the Superintendent to inspect them during the course of the year :—

(1) Nawab Diler Khan's tomb at Shahabad, district Hardoi.
(2) Monument at Pihani, district Hardoi.
(3) Repairs to Fort wall, Allahabad.
(4) Tombs of Nawab Rashid Khan and others and Nawab Muhammad Khan, etc., at Kaimganj in the Farrukhabad district.
(5) Jahaz Kothi at Hissar.
(6) Sarai at Chhatta, Muttra district.
(7) Sarai at Dakhni and tomb at Nakodar, Jullundhar district.
(8) Maqbara of Mian Bahlol Khan Bahadur, at Bulandshahr.
(9) Panjabi Gate of Roshan Ara garden, Delhi.
(10) Iftikhar Khan's tomb at Chunar, district Mirzapur.
(11) Khwaja Khizar's Tomb at Sonepat, district Rohtak.
(12) Stone mosque at Thanesar, Karnal district.
(13) Baiju-ka-makan at Fatehpur-Sikri, Agra district.

PART II.

NOTES ON CONSERVATION.

General.

A total sum of Rs. 2,55,607 was spent in this Circle on the conservation of Muhammadan and British monuments during the year under report, as against Rs. 1,35,190 in the previous year. Of this amount, Rs. 1,22,932 (Rs. 85,987 on Special and Rs. 36,945 on Annual Repairs) were expended in the United Provinces; Rs. 60,055 (Rs. 37,758 on Special and Rs. 22,297 on Annual Repairs) in the Punjab Province; and Rs. 72,620 (Rs. 41,568 on Special and Rs. 31,052 on Annual Repairs) in the Province of Delhi (vide Appendix A).

The work of repair, which was executed by the Public Works departments of the provinces concerned, has on the whole been carried out in a satisfactory manner, having in view the special requirements of archaeological conservation and the lack of specialized training in such requirements of the subordinate officers charged with the actual execution of the work. With the appointment of a limited number of trained conservation assistants* to the staff of the Archaeological department, and with the aid of a comprehensive Manual of Conservation now under preparation by the Director-General of Archaeology, it is hoped that it will be possible to record considerable and progressive improvement in this direction in future years. The difficulty at present experienced is to impress sufficiently on the understanding of Public Works department subordinates the necessity of subordinating the effect of a repair to the appearance of the old weathered fabric in which it is being executed, their instinctive aim in many cases being apparently to advertise, either by widely spread pointing or patches of incongruous pink plaster, the extent of their activities on its behalf. Counterfeited antiquity, as such, can never be condoned, as it is indeed superfluous to remark; but there is a great deal of difference between this and the effective assimilation of, for instance, a patch of simple underpinning in rough rubble masonry with the undermined old structure it is intended to sustain; or the recessing of mortar jointing behind the face of the old stones to leave their naturally weathered arises quite clear and defined, colour-staining such mortar in the mixing to conform to the old tone; or again in similarly treating the mortar-infilling in a crack of a dome, rather than leave it shamelessly to invite comparison with the trailing depredations of white ants.

Such items, it is at once admitted, are minor in themselves, but are very far from minor in their disastrous effect on an ancient fabric whose age-worn beauty and mellowed charm it is the incidental aim of this department to conserve—without undue and unnecessary advertisement of the process.

With a circle of superintendence extending over three provinces, and with the many individual works of conservation scattered widely over them, it has often been impossible for the Archaeological Superintendent to give his personal attention to each one during the actual execution of the work; but with the assistance of an archaeologically trained subordinate inspecting staff this difficulty should be to a large extent overcome, with a considerable resultant economy in the cost of the work in which deficiencies will not have to be remedied at further expense.

United Provinces.

In the United Provinces the principal works of special repair undertaken were at Agra and in the neighbourhood, where some Rs. 28,000 were spent towards restoring the missing cloisters (dalans) on the south side of the Taj forecourt, the half of which west of the Sirhi Darwaza was completed during the year under report. It is hoped to carry on the work during the coming year and so complete this prominent feature of the original forecourt. The design is a simple repetition of the arched colonnades on the remaining sides of the court, the restoration of which was carried out several years ago. The completion of this work had been indefinitely postponed previously for want of funds until the stimulus of the recent Royal Visit to Agra hastened their provision.

A new brass standard lamp of the same Mughal design as those previously set up in the forecourt of the Taj was also erected at the junction of the fork road

* As stated in Part I of this Report, the appointment of two conservation assistants for work on Muhammadan and British Monuments in this circle has been sanctioned in Government of India, Education Department (Archaeology and Epigraphy) letter no. 383, dated the 13th December, 1920 approach in the area west of the Tajganj gate to replace a very non-descript modern road lamp which previously did duty here. The cost of this work was Rs. 1,400. A further sum of Rs. 1,200 was also spent on the repair of the electric lighting installation of the Taj.

In the Agra Fort, dilapidation of the roof of the enclosing aisle of the Muthammam Burj had to be made good at a cost of some Rs. 2,100, rolled steel beams being provided, concealed in the ceiling, to replace the previous kachcha construction.

In the Ram Bagh, at Agra, which is believed to have been laid out originally by the Mughal Emperor Babar, whose body is said to have rested here prior to its being conveyed for burial to Kabul, some useful repairs were undertaken to the Baradaries (now used as dak bungalows), such as resetting stone floors and re-painting woodwork, at a cost of Rs. 1,260 ; while some Rs. 250 were spent on the repair of the garden wall of the neighbouring Chini-ka-Rauza, a unique example in Agra of the enamelled tile decoration so characteristic of the Persianized Mughal architecture of Lahore. Minor special repairs were also put in hand at Firoz Khan's tomb, an interesting structure of considerable architectural merit of the time of Akbar, situated on the Gwalior road, at a cost of Rs. 200.

At Fatehpur-Sikri, a sum of Rs. 1,000 was spent on general clearance and petty repair in the areas adjacent to the more important monuments, under the immediate supervision of the Archaeological Superintendent, in connection with the Royal Visit in February last.

Work towards completing the restoration of the ruined east causeway of Akbar's tomb at Sikandarah on which some Rs. 36,900 were spent is another desirable and oft-postponed work that has benefited by the stimulating influence of the Royal Visit, and the reconstruction has been carried out up to and including the tank midway between the Mausoleum and the east false gate, where it was stopped for want of further funds.

On the reconstruction of the original chabutra outside the main entrance gate of the Mausoleum, with its panelled red-stone plinth-facing, which was completed during the year, some Rs. 5,400 were expended, and the work has resulted in a much desired improvement of this feature which had been previously temporarily repaired with brick.

As a preliminary to undertaking the layout of the garden of Akbar's tomb, which it is hoped will be taken in hand before long, five of the old original wells were cleaned out at a cost of Rs. 600.

At Chunar, in the Mirzapur district, work was continued on the conservation of the tomb of Iftikhar Khan, an Early Mughal monument of pleasing design formerly in use by the Opium department, where the dilapidated roof of the entrance gateway was dismantled and reconstructed, the work being completed with an expenditure of Rs. 2,560 during the year.

At Lucknow, Rs. 1,240 were spent on the installation of electric lighting in the Victoria Memorial, and minor repairs to the Residency were undertaken at cost of Rs. 160, including the provision of a flag and flagstaff.

At Aurangabad, in the Kheri district, Rs. 550 were spent towards the construction of a well in the compound of the British monument for the better upkeep of the garden ; and at Meerut the British tombs in the Military cemetery at Beonga Khasra were usefully repaired at a cost of Rs. 350.

At Sardhana, in the Meerut district, special repairs to the tombs in the Roman Catholic cemetery were completed at a cost of some Rs. 1,600 during the year, the total expenditure amounting to Rs. 2,140. The work was comprised principally by the underpinning of the bases of walls where undermined, and replacing of fallen patches of plaster.

Punjab.

In the Punjab Province, the chief conservation works were in connection with the historical monuments of Lahore, a sum of Rs. 14,670 being spent on the special repair of the tomb of Asaf Khan at Shahdara—the Persian prime minister of Jahangir, to whose influence is said to be largely due the predominently Persian charac er of the Mughal buildings at Lahore. Work on its dangerously dilapidated garden walls was largely completed during the previous year, and in 1920-21 the bulk of the work was in connection with the restoration of the old lakhauri brick causeways intersecting the garden, as well as the similar treatment of the octagonal brick chabutra on which the tomb stands.

In the adjoining Akbari Sarai special repairs amounting in all to some Rs. 9,000 were taken in hand. These were chiefly comprised in the repair of the enclosing dalans of the sarai, and the resetting of displaced portions of the red stone facing of the mosque.

In Jahangir's Tomb here, the honeycombed plaster work of the domed ceiling of the crypt was repaired at a cost of Rs. 815.

In the Lahore fort, a dilapidated portion of the mirror-ornamented ceiling was repaired, Rs. 1,030 being spent on the work.

The Chauburji, at Lahore, also received attention during the past year, and Rs. 1,490 were spent on laying with kankar the main roadway through the ruined gate, and in providing brick-on-edge floors to the side chambers. Wire fencing was purchased for the enclosing of the site, when the area will be levelled, grassed, and planted with trees.

In the Gulabi Bagh, on the Shalimar road, a pathway to connect the entrance gate with Dai Angah's Tomb in the middle of the remains of the old garden (now in private possession and given over to cultivation) was commenced and a sum of Rs. 420 spent on the work.

Work on the Buddhu-ka-Awa monument in the vicinity, designed by the Consulting Architect to the Punjab Government to mark the site of the House of Ranjit Singh's general, Avitabile, was completed during the year at a cost of Rs. 65.

In the Shalimar garden, special repairs to the oil engine installed in connection with the maintenance of the garden were necessitated, and Rs. 500 spent on the work.

At Attock, work on the conservation of the Begam-ki-Sarai, one of the old Mughal caravansarais that marked the badshahi highway from the Indus across to Bengal, was taken in hand and Rs. 3,040 spent on the repair, which consisted prinicipally in underpinning the undermined portions of the old walls and the removal of the remains of modern bungalow within the area. The remarks made in the preamble of these notes relative to the necessity for subduing the effect of such repairs are unfortunately specially applicable to this building, the work executed on which cannot be instanced as a satisfactory piece of conservation.

At Hassan Abdal, on the conservation of the monuments in the vicinity of the so-called Tomb of Lalla Rukh, Rs. 380 were spent. The work was comprised principally by the underpinning of the Hakim's tomb and its chabutra, and the clearance of the site generally; plans for the layout of which as a garden will it is hoped shortly be carried into effect. The sarcophagus of the Lalla Rukh tomb—a monolithic block of abri—has been brought to Agra for repair under the personal supervision of the Archaeological Superintendent, funds for the execution of which it is hoped will be provided shortly.

At Guzrat, Rs. 250 were spent on minor items of repair to the Akbari baoli, principally the clearance of accumulated silt.

At Thanesar, in the Karnal district, special repairs to the Patthar mosque—a small red stone building remarkable for its minars, and dating probably from the end of the 14th century—were commenced, and Rs. 300 spent on the purchase of red sand-stone for the repair of the floor of the prayer chamber, and for a new jali window to repeat the design of an existing one where such is at present missing.

At Sonepat, on the tomb of Khwaja Khizr Rs. 3,920 were spent principally on the underpinning of the dilapidated wall of the terrace on which the tomb is elevated and the relaying of the concrete floor and platform.

A number of Kos Minars, marking the badshahi route of Mughal days, in the Gurgaon district, were repaired at a cost of Rs. 1,723, the work being of the nature of underpinning and repairing broken plaster, and the clearance of jungle growth in the vicinity.

The repair of the British monument at Chillianwalla, commemorating the battle fought in January, 1849, in the second Sikh War, in the Guzrat district, was also carried to completion, a sum of Rs. 35 being spent in the past year.

Delhi Province.

In the Province of Delhi the principal work undertaken was the conservation of the road front of Tughlaqabad fort—founded by Ghiyas-ud-din Tughlaq, 1321—5 A.D.—where some Rs. 18,980 in all were spent chiefly on the underpinning of the undermined bastions and walls, and the clearance of accumulated earth both outside and in the interior, which has effected a great improvement in the appearance of the monument and, in the case of the gates in the lower length of wall west of the ruined sluice-band, has revealed to view a very interesting treatment of steps flanked on either side of the ascending approach by low chabutras in tiers. The conservation of the fine gate in the extreme south-east corner of the fort was also included in the work, and a great deal of underpinning of the badly ruined interior was necessitated. An interesting feature here was the discovery below the mounds of fallen débris of the original setting-out lines of the floor of the gate as it ascended in a gradual inclination towards the inner opening of the passage, to which slope the new floor has been aligned. Vaulted passages in the thickness of the upper wall of the fort have also been cleared of the vast quantity of fallen débris that covered them, and altogether a great improvement in the appearance of this old historic fabric has been effected. A great deal more remains to be done, however, and it is hoped that the work will be carried on in the coming year.

At Firozshah Kotla, Rs. 2,200 were spent on the conservation of the river front—the work here again being comprised chiefly by the underpinning of eroded gaps in the base of the wall; while a further sum of Rs. 1,670 was spent principally on the repair of the main entrance court, the ruined side walls of the original passage approach to which were built up to the level of the old chabutras flanking the way through. It is hoped that the remaining works in the estimate of which only the above could be funded in the past year will be carried to completion in 1921-22.

At Humayun's tomb, works entailing an expenditure of Rs. 15,060 in all were carried out, principally for the repair and underpinning of the enclosing walls of the garden and the subsidiary pavilions situated thereon, which had become seriously dilapidated in several places. Included in this amount is the sum of Rs. 1,300 spent on the layout of the eastern terrace along the river front as a sunken garden, as well as Rs. 1,070 in renewing the concrete bottoms of certain of the water tanks of the old ornamental irrigation system in the main portion of the garden about the Mausoleum.

In the Delhi fort, works amounting to a total of Rs. 2,570 were undertaken during the year. These comprised the lowering and regrassing of the lawn in front of the Mumtaz Mahal museum to the original level, to expose the full depth of the old chabutra; minor repairs to the surface water drainage system in the gardens, as well as the repair of the water tanks installed for their irrigation. The chajja over the Lahori gate of the fort, which had to be taken down a few years ago owing to its dangerous condition, was also replaced during the year at a cost of Rs. 1,380 included in the above total sum.

At the Qutb, Mehrauli, a new iron railing of simple design was erected on the Qutb Minar at a cost of Rs. 755 to replace the old one which had become dangerously loose; and the conservation of an early Pathan wall-mosque in the Mehrauli bazaar—a structure remarkable for its treatment of incised plaster arabesques—commenced in the previous year, was also completed.

Little improvement in the conditions of the Archaeological gardens in Delhi is, unfortunately, to be recorded upon those obtaining in the previous year as remarked on in Mr. Blakiston's report; nor will such be possible until provision for a really adequate and reliable water-supply can be made. It is understood that a comprehensive scheme will shortly be prepared to remedy as far as possible the inherent disadvantages of the very brackish soil at Humayun's tomb and Purana Qila by ensuring an adequate soft water-supply from the river. This, however, will entail the expenditure of a considerable sum of money, and the problem of the wherewithal to meet it is not made easier by a consideration of the urgent claims of the many other important monuments of Delhi, attention to whose pressing structural needs has already been long delayed. It is these two gardens that have suffered most through the inadequacy of the monsoon and the total failure of the usual winter rains, the level of the subsoil water having in consequence subsided, rendering such water as is available still more brackish. The collapse of a storage tank at Purana Qila made the position still more acute, and the Horticultural Superintendent reports that the entire staff had to be employed in bringing water by hand from outside wells to keep the trees alive. At Humayun's tomb even the sturdier trees, he states, are dying away, and it is doubtful if the two lines of gravillias bordering the causeway approach can be saved.

At Kotla Firoz Shah an improvement has been effected by the installation of an electric pumping plant, an improvement that will be increased when funds can be supplied for the deepening of the well. It is also pleasing to be able to state that with the installation of two new electric pumps at Safdar Jang, replacing the previous bullock-worked arrangements, there is every prospect of a considerable improvement being effected in the condition of the garden in the near future, which is fortunate in the almost unique enjoyment of a sweet water supply; though it is feared there will be some delay on the score of funds in carrying into effect the plans prepared by the Archaeological Superintendent for the amended layout of the grounds in conformity with the architectual features of the monument.

At Hauz Khas, the recently laid out garden is also in better condition, having been affected less by the generally adverse conditions than any other; but at the Qutb the Horticultural Superintendent urges the necessity of providing an additional pumping plant for the well now worked by bullocks at the junction of the Qutb and Mehrauli roads, to augment the available water-supply which is not adequate to the requirements.
